Volume 5, No. 47

35c

Wednesday, November 25th, 1987

HE'S GOT THEM EATING OUT OF HIS HAND — Or at least his oat pail. The Elk Point district's new arrivals are making themselves right at home with fledgling elk rancher Marvin Ference, although most prefer to stay a little farther from the camera than this hungry yearling heifer.

Dome purchase would be major step in recovery

The long hoped for purchase of Dome Petroleum by Amoco Canada Ltd. would be a "major step in the recovery of the oil and gas industry", Amoco's Vice-President of Production J. Sherrold Moore told Elk Point Chamber of Commerce last Wednesday.

Moore's visit to Elk Point came only hours after the announcement of Amoco's new $5.5 billion bid for Dome. Accompanied by Joanne Schultz and Vince Rodych of Amoco's Calgary office and Elk Point - Soars Lake District Foreman Greg Grabowski, Moore toured the Elk Point project and met with Town Council to outline future plans. Producing approximately 6,000 barrels per day, the Lindbergh project is Amoco's biggest at the present time. A similar project at Soars Lake, on the Elizabeth Metis Colony, is scheduled to be put in operation in April 1988.

An additional 35 wells are to be drilled at the Elk Point project, Moore said, at an expected completion cost of $18 million. Approximately 50 additional employees will be required in the drilling and completion phases plus operators and maintenance personnel for the two new pads.

Moore told a lunchtime audience of well over 50 people that the relationship between Amoco and Dome goes back 35 years, when Amoco merged with Hudsons Bay Oil and Gas. Dome later bought out Hudsons Bay and became Amoco's partner, with the result that both hold a joint interest in many properties.

Amoco's bid was one of 3 evaluated by Dome, and was announced as the winner on April 18. Moore said Amoco "woke up to the reality of public opinion" when government debate and opposition to the sale arose.

Dome's creditors "balked in spite of the size of the bid" when they met in mid-May to discuss the sale. Those discussions continued for over 6 months until Amoco's new offer was made on Nov. 17.

The $5.5 million bid is "the best deal Dome's shareholders can expect," Moore said. This would be sufficient to pay some debts in full, including $172 million in PGRT taxes owed to the federal government, and would improve the position of secured creditors from 88 percent to 95 percent.

"We believe that this is a generous offer," Moore continued, adding that with a $6.3 billion debt "there is no real equity" in Dome.

However, there are many benefits to be derived by Amoco from the sale, including, considerable exploration potential. With the joint properties, and increased capital investment of $2.5 billion would be put into development over the next 5 years.

Planning for the merger had already been initiated, and should be ready by early January to go ahead if the acquisition is completed. Moore is "very optimistic" that the deal will go forward. He says that it "makes good business sense for both companies... for the petroleum industry... and for all of Canada."

Bringing the elk to Elk Point

The Elk Point area became home to its first herd of elk in recorded history earlier this month, when seven head of the stately animals were unloaded at the farm of Marvin Ference and the Elk Point Game Ranch officially came into being.

The five-month-old bull calf, three adult cows, two yearling heifers and one heifer calf are "just a start" for the 22-year-old Ference, who later hopes to add more elk and both mule and whitetail deer to his herd. The animals were purchased from Raymond Ference and Frank McAllister of Elk Valley Ranches, Kitscoty, who have been game ranching for two years and presently have 100 elk, six moose and several deer.

Preparing for the arrival of the elk has occupied much of Ference's spare time in recent weeks. An 11-foot board fence encloses holding and handling pens, while six feet of high tensile strength page wire and a strand of barb wire encircle another 40 acres.

Family and friends helped with the construction, at times "stringing wire 'til 2 a.m.". The 10 foot lengths of 3½ inch oilfield tubing used as posts for the wire fencing were pushed three feet into the ground with the aid of his uncle's 4-wheel-drive tractor.

"The weather was definitely on our side," Ference noted, adding that he had not originally anticipated getting so much work done this fall on the facilities.

Game ranching is a new concept in this area, with the closest established ranches at Mannville, Marwayne, Grand Centre and Lacorey. It is also new to Alberta Fish and Wildlife and Alberta Agriculture, who are receiving an increasing number of requests for information on this new aspect of agriculture.

Start-up costs for a game ranch are quite high, both for establishment of the necessary facilities and for purchase of the animals. Ference says that adult females average $5,000, while a mature bull can cost from $6,000 to $10,000. The fencing wire, imported from New Zealand, costs over $1 per lineal foot. A comparable Canadian made wire is much more expensive.

Ference emphasises that those interested in getting into game ranching should look at it on a long-term basis. He calculates that it will take at least 2 years to get a return on the initial investment. With government regulations prohibiting the sale of game meat at this time, the focus is on establishment of breeding herds. When meat sale approval is legislated, there will be a good market for a prime product "and we don't want to be selling them our old cows," Ference noted.

There is also a good market for antlers in the velvet stage, which can be harvested every year and which sells for $50 per pound for medicinal and aphrodisiac purposes to a booming oriental market. The antlers, which can weigh up to 20 lbs., are harvested by tranquilizing the animal and freezing the horn area before sawing the antlers free. The antlers are shed each year anyway, Ference noted, and are not necessary to the well-being of the domesticized animals. The return of up to $1000 per male elk helps to meet the costs of maintaining the herd.

The herd bull, however, will be left with his antlers and his dignity. No attempt will be made to tame the bull elk, as tame bulls have no fear of humans and are likely to turn on them during the mating season, when hormonal surges impair the animal's normal good sense. Bull elk must be kept two fences apart from each other to keep them from injuring each other and destroying fences

Senior boys bound for Provincials

The F. G. Miller Senior Boys Volleyball squad is off to the Boys 2A Provincial Championships in Coleman this weekend, following a 2 game to 1 victory over Heinsburg in the zone finals last Saturday in Elk Point.

Tom Ranger, Aaron De Jong, Ken Hanson, David Hellquist, Calvin Bepalko, Danny Maas, Darwin Roscoe, Dean Bosvik and Albert Lim will be accompanied by coach Tim Martin on the trip.

The team reports that "great community support" by their loyal fans has played a large part in their success to date.

Good luck, boys!

Hospital Board reports to Council

John Williams, town representative on the Elk Point Municipal Hospital Board, met with Town Council at Monday's regular meeting to give his annual report on hospital operations.

Williams reported progress on planning for the future nursing home. The Board met with Hospitals Minister Marvin Moore, who okayed $1 million in additional funding for the project. Construction of the nursing home wing will virtually double the size of the hospital and will necessitate expansion of kitchen and laundry facilities, which had not originally been included in the budget.

Moore suggested that the work could be done in two stages to bring the project within funding guidelines. The original 40 nursing home beds could be cut to 30, and renovations in the pediatric ward would cut that capacity from 13 beds to 9, reflecting reduced occupancy rates.

The project, which has been on hold for approximately a year, is now in the planning stage preparatory to working with architects to design the addition.

Williams also offered hope on the prospect of getting an additional doctor in Elk Point. The Elk Point delegation which visited a medical student interchange in Calgary got a "very positive response" from one prospect, who will decide in January if he will come to Elk Point. Dr. Frank Estey and Municipal Administrator Pat Vincent accompanied the Board to the Interchange.

The Board has purchased a van for the transport of handicapped persons, which is equipped with a wheelchair lift, and which "should be a boost to the community", Williams said. Mayor Mann suggested that the Town's capital transportation grant nest egg might be utilized in financing the purchase.

Williams reported good morale at the hospital, and things "generally going well". Outpatient service is quite heavy - "enough there for 4 doctors" - but Williams estimates that 30% of district residents are still seeking medical attention elsewhere.

Sufficient applicants are still being sought to fill the PEP and ABCD positions. Council decided to transfer one of the PEP positions to the Elk Point Historical Society to assist in the completion of the mural. The increased scope of the project has caused financial difficulties for the group, and the Town feels that the allocation of a position will help out.

Council agreed to pay Steve Kinjer-ski for fencing the boundary between his land and the water treatment plant intake. They also agreed to pay for damages incurred when a sewer backup destroyed a quantity of potatoes stored in a resident's basement.

The annual agreement for government funding for the FCSS Department was approved.

The long-awaited Mutual Aid Fire Fighting Agreement between the Town and the County of St. Paul received final approval from Council, when notice of approval by the County and confirmation of insurance coverage for volunteer firemen attending County fires were received.

Fun planned for United Church youth group

Yes, the Elk Point United church does have an active youth group. Anyone between the ages of 12-17 is invited to come along and have some fun.

We went swimming at the St. Paul pool last month, then returned to the Church Hall for a Chinese lunch. There is a 1/2 hour discussion time at each meeting. The topics - peer pressure, dating, alcohol, etc.

After each outing we have decided on a different ethnic lunch - Italian (pizza) this month.

On Saturday, Nov. 28, we will be leaving the church at 6 o'clock to travel to Vermilion to spend an evening of bowling.

Besides our fun events, we help in the church or community, wherever we are needed.

Next week we'll be decorating the church for Christmas and preparing personal health bags for the inner city people at Christmas.

We are self-supporting thus far. The cost of our fun events are $9.00 per person each time. We have raised money by cleaning yards, donations and our current project is the sale of large rolls of clear wrap and foil wrap. The savings on these items are $10.00 or more compared to the equal amount purchased in the store. Some of the events we have planned for the future are: a Christmas party at the Windsor Club with sleigh rides, provided there is snow, curling, skating, tobogganing or whatever else pleases you. A potluck supper will follow. This is to be held on Dec. 20 at 1:30 - 4 p.m. The entire family is welcome.

In February, we will have our Valentine's Day Box Social.

Before spring, we would also like to have a winter camp, toboggan party, skiing, trail ride and many more fun events.

Come and join us this Saturday night. Our group is open to anyone - boys or girls.

For further information phone: Ruth Vogel - 724-4039, 724-3944; Millie Orr - 724-2360, 724-4260 or Sharil Baumgardener 724-4117.

with their antlers.

Elk are handled much like cattle, Fercence said, pointing out the various aspects of the handling facilities he is now working on.

They are all tattooed and eartagged, as well as vaccinated with Ivomec and 7-way vaccine against disease. They enjoy oats and hay, but eat less than their bovine counterparts: "You can feed 5 elk on what a cow will eat". Fercence is facing the calving season with confidence, as the elk cows are reported to be "easy calvers". Patience is needed to work with the elk, as a "rodeo attitude" will only rile them up and make handling difficult.

Fercence is a member of the fast-growing Alberta Game Growers Association, which elected a board of nine directors from all areas of the province at its annual meeting in Red Deer.

Asked if he is looking into government grants or loans for the fencing, Fercence gives an adamant "no".

"I want to be able to say I worked for this. It makes you want to get up and go to work. It gives you something to work for."

The young rancher extends hearty thanks to his family and friends for all their help with the project, and a special thank you to Elk Valley Ranches and to Rick Alsager of Maidstone, Sask. for their professional advice.

Library concerned with funding cuts

By Adele Mandryk
Board Chairman

The Elk Point Public Library Board has written to Premier Don Getty, Minister of Culture, Greg Stevens and MLA John Drobot, to express concerns over last year's funding cuts to libraries of 3% and anticipated future funding cuts of 8-12%, as these significant budget cuts seriously jeopardize library service in our community.

The Elk Point Public Library serves the Town of Elk Point; population 1,300 and the surrounding area; population 2,580 for a total of approximately 3,880 people. The library plays a very large and important roll in a community this size, as we are a good distance from a major city and rely on our own resources for information and entertainment.

The Elk Point Public Library is very well used with approximately 35% of all town residents paid members. This is even more significant when it is noted that 52% of all residents between the ages 0-19 are paid members of the Library. The Library is obviously very important to this age group.

Past economic conditions and very hard work has enabled us to provide a wonderful new library facility and upgraded service to the community. As a result of the needs assessment completed this year, as directed by the Government of Alberta, our profile within the community has been raised and patron expectations for future library service has also increased. The value of the library within the community cannot be over emphasized.

This library provides:

- an enhancement to the basic education system;
- a reliable information centre;
- permanent part-time; summer and seasonal employment to members of our community;
- a way for local citizens to obtain materials in languages of their choice through the multi-lingual biblio service;
- a way for local visually impaired residents to obtain talking books;
- a public source of quality reading material for pre-schoolers;
- a source of cultural information and displays;

- and a source of entertainment, much needed, for all ages.

The library greatly enhances the quality of life for all the residents of Elk Point and area and it would be a horrible shame if service was to be reduced. Budget cuts as proposed by the Government place considerable strain on our library and make future cuts in service imminent.

The government officials were asked to kindly consider the importance that small libraries have in the rural communities of Alberta and reconsider such drastic measures in the areas of library service. It is extremely important that we preserve what we now have, rather than taking a step backwards. We are not requesting increases to our funding, but rather request that funding remains the same and is not further cut.

Lionesses to sponsor Santa's Anonymous

Santa's Anonymous was a great success last year. thanks to all those who contributed.

For those of you who are new to our area or don't know how Santa's Anonymous works; the Lioness Club of Elk Point are sponsoring it this year. We gather unwrapped toys for children, infant to 18, food for hampers, or cash, which is all donated by the community. This is distributed to anonymous families around our community who are less fortunate.

Our donation boxes will be at the Co-op, Stedmans, the Post Office and Bumper to Bumper. Look for one at the Lioness Pancake Breakfast Dec. 5.

Santa's Anonymous will also have accounts set up at both the Treasury Branch and the Toronto Dominion Bank for those who would rather donate cash. Thanks to all those merchants for contributing their time and space.

If you or anyone you know would benefit from this program, please call Marnie at 724-3800, Sam at 724-3616, John at 724-4194 (24-hour answering machine).

One month, and counting

Just one month to go 'til you know-what -- have you started your Christmas shopping/baking/festivity planning yet? Or are you like the rest of us, waiting for inspiration and/or the Christmas spirit to strike?

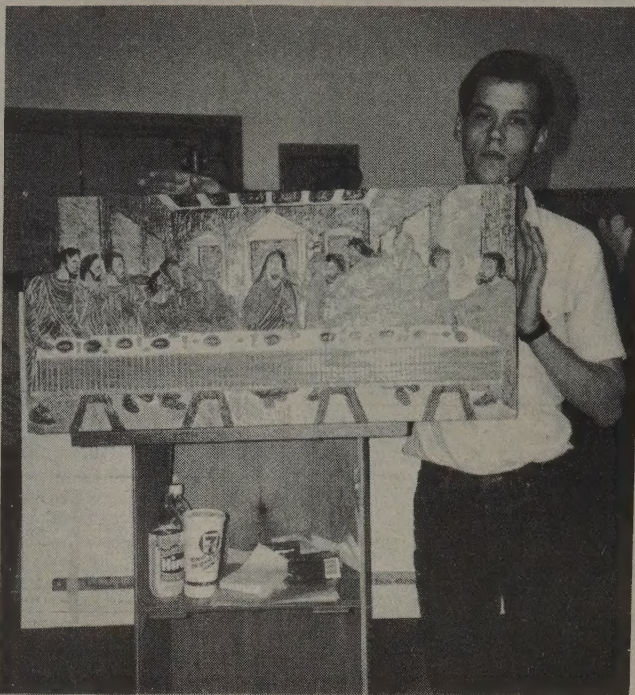

It's hard to think about Christmas in a snowless November when people are watering lawns, playing golf, and riding bicycles without coats on. Who can write festive messages on Christmas cards while lounging in brilliant sunshine on the deck?

As we go to press, however, it's foggy, clammy, and grey, with a bitter wind and a few flakes of snow. Does this mean winter's on its way?

If so, maybe we will be inspired to dig out our mittens and mukluks, dust off our charge cards, and sally forth on a shopping expedition. Maybe we will dig out the nuts and raisins, and fill the house with the redolence of baking fruitcakes. Maybe we should start planning a caroling party ... but no sleigh ride, just in case.

We definitely should start looking for things to contribute to Santa's Anonymous, and scribbling out a cheque for the Christmas seals, so that others may have a more enjoyable holiday season.

Ready or not, it's time to start preparation for Christmas. Get ready, get set, go!

It takes all kinds

By Irene Magnusson

It really does take all kinds of persons to make up this interesting world we live in — doing all kinds of interesting things, each one hoping to 'leave his mark' in some way for posterity. Although some of us would never admit it, we would all like to leave a lasting memento of our passing.

Certainly we cannot all be Leonardo — or Van Gogh, or Michelangelo, but it would be nice to leave one scratch mark, or scrap of paper — whatever — behind when we go. And so it is with wood carvers.

Last week I had the pleasure of attending the annual exhibition of the Northern Alberta Wood Carvers Association, in Edmonton, at the Aurora Rudolf Steiner School, on 69 Ave. This display of the wood carver's craft lasted through November 7 and 8. Here some fifteen to twenty wood carvers displayed their art, offered some of it for sale, and gave demonstrations of various aspects of their craft.

On the centre table, surrounded by those who knew what these types of wood would best be suited for, were displayed samples of a wide assortment of woods, in many colors, with interesting grains. I lifted a block or two, they weighed like iron. Why not? They were ironwood. Others were cherry, rose, tulip woods, ebony, mahogany, cedar and all the others I've ever heard of, plus a whole lot more I have never heard of before. One of the most interesting was called birds-eye maple, chuck full of little designs, which you could imagine would be really beautiful when polished and stained or varnished. The lady, from whose shop the samples came, said that wood was used for violin bodies.

So then to the finished products. What had these skillful whittlers done with these fantastic woods? Here on the front table were a number of jewelry boxes, chip-carved in intricate designs, velvet lined, with tiny locks and hinges. Then a few clouds, panels — carved in birds and leaves and flowers, with a clock face top or bottom of the panel.

There are birds, in every conceivable position, flying, landing, perching. The bald-eagle, with fish clutched in his talons, has wings outspread as he lands on a stump, and the craftsman has made countless feathers, perfect and complete, each little hairline frond carved into the wood.

Some artists have painted or stained their birds in natural shades. Others have made stylized pieces, polished to satin smoothness, with the wood grain and the wood color displayed.

There are horses, some with riders, some drawing wagons, and dogs, cats, unicorn. There are people, in amusing activities, or performing the tasks of livelihood, cowboys, the farmer plowing, children at play. Here are a group of gamblers, hunched over a table, cards in hand. There a rangy calf bunts at a pail held by a blue-jean clad girl. There are little log cabins, and wall plaques, deep carved. Down at the hall end is a wall display, large objects, of joined wood, deep carved into churches, trees, ribbons, a masterful display.

One carver specializes in 'finding' faces in the bark of black poplar trees. His faces tend to be those of old men, long-bearded and with flowing hair, everyone unique, a pixie twinkle in the eyes. One showed a mother and child, her long hair overflowing the child to make a shawl. But mostly little old men, the leprochauns of the forest from whence they came.

This particular wood carving group was formed in 1980, and has displays and shows in various places around Edmonton and elsewhere whenever opportunity allows. Their main in-

In Memoriam

ORR, Clayton

In loving memory of CLAYTON ORR, who passed away November 30, 1986.

If tear drops could build a stairway
And memory make a lane,
We'd walk the long road to reach
And bring him home again.

Clayton, even though you and your big voice may have moved on, we will remember you forever.

Love, Mom & Dad
and brother Jeffrey

Every day in some small way
Memories of you come our way;
Thou absent, you are ever near,
Still missed, loved, always dear.

In loving memory of a dear grandson and nephew Clayton.

Aunts and Uncles.

Elementary students explore world of books

Despite construction noise overhead and the odd falling ceiling tile, students of Elk Point Elementary School celebrated the 11th Annual Canadian Children's Book Festival in fine style last week, ending up on Friday with a massive promenade of students and staff, all dressed as their favorite storybook characters.

Special guests for the promenade, and for a special library-oriented skit by the Enrichment Program students, were 7 former teachers, including the school's first principal, Mrs. McDonnell, along with Mrs. Dumont, Mrs. Melin, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Flanders, Mrs. Bjornstad and Mrs. Buryn, the latter 3 accompanied by their youngsters. Music teacher Mrs. DebbieLou Huskins was also welcomed by the students.

The school's special theme for the week, featuring a jack-in-the-box with a book in his hands, was "Pop Out! A Book To Read", and was entered by Claudia Naber during the 1986 Book Festival Week. Bookmarks featuring the slogan were presented to all students. The official cross-Canada theme for the week was "A World To Explore With Mr. Dewey", as the activities during the week focused on non-fiction, and the students discovered how to find books on various subjects with the help of the Dewey Decimal System.

Construction of collages, read-aloud sessions, and making mini-books on dinosaurs and science activities were also featured during the busy and entertaining week.

LIBRARY PROTEST MARCH — A long line of readers, in this imaginative skit performed at the "Pop Out Your Favorite Book Character Promenade" last Friday.

Elks extinguish Flames 18-4

To start with, it looked like your average, ho-hum hockey game, when Elk Point Elks hosted the Goodfish Flames Sunday afternoon.

Albert Houle opened the scoring for Goodfish, off assists by Merle Jackson and Gary Halfe, with one Elk in the penalty box for too many men on the ice. Delwin Slomp tied it up for the Elks, assisted by Keith Campbell and Kerry Loughran. Murray Cochrane brought the Elks ahead with a goal assisted by Willie Lesyk, 9 minutes into the period. The 2-1 score persisted for the balance of the period.

In the second period, the Elks took off like a squad of rockets, scoring 6 goals in the first 13 minutes, with 3 by Cochrane, one each by Ryan Blume, Keith Campbell and Byron Smyl, off assists by Vic Stepa, Smyl, Clayton Cross, Blume, Cochrane and Lesyk.

One Goodfish player was sidelined with a badly separated shoulder at the 12:21 mark, with play stopped for some time while Merle Jackson was loaded carefully onto a stretcher for transport to hospital.

Goodfish managed a brief rally, with Darryl Halfe, Stuart Delver and Albert Houle slipping 3 goals past Elks' goalie Mike Scott in just over 2 minutes. Assists were by Brian Halfe, Gary Halfe and Stuart Delver.

Then the Elks were back at full speed, with Cochrane, Stepa and Smyl, assisted by Blume, Smyl, Terry Wozniak and John Wozniak, scoring three more to make it 11-4 by the period's end.

The onslaught continued into the third period, with 2 goals by Smyl, one each by Cochrane, Blume, Murray Scoggins, Willie Lesyk and Darryl Smith, and assists by Smyl, Slomp, Cochrane, Loughran, Scoggins, Lesyk and Stepa, totalling up to a 18-4 final score in a very hard-played and exciting game.

Clandonald News

By Shirley Osinchuk

The Annual Seed Cleaning Plant meeting was held on Nov. 18, in the Hall. The guest speaker, Jim Unterschultz, Regional Economist with Alberta Agriculture, spoke on tax reform as it relates to farming. New business brought up for discussion included the pay-out of non-farmers and shareholders over the age of 65.

Two positions for director were open. Gerald Holmen and Colin MacGillivray were elected. Art Lawrence, Herb Protsch, Keith McIntyre, Peter Noster, and Tom Rochford have one or two more years on their terms. Sadie Rochford is the secretary, Clarence Goldsmith is county representative and Josie Van Lent is the district agricultural representative.

At the Whist Drive in Landonville the same evening, Victor Nowosad and Lois Yaremkevich won high scores, Ken Leach and Sue Goad placed second, Eddie Etherington and Stella Harasiuk had the low scores and Cheryl (Charlie) Harasiuk and Melanie Trach took home the travelling prizes. The next and final Whist Drive at Landonville for 1987 will be on Dec. 2.

All the local clubs sent their representatives to the planning meeting for the Winter Carnival. Two busy days of winter fun are slated for the end of January or early February. The next planning meeting will be in the school on Dec. 1, at 7:30 p.m.

The Clandonald Fish and Game Association is one of the very busy groups in the community. A list of the chairmen highlights all the areas of interest: Fish Chairman - Art Lawrence, Bird Chairman - Terry Stachniak, Lottery Chairman - Larry Garnier, Big Game Chairman - Gordon Kuhn, Trophy Chairman - Vincent Cusack, Membership Chairman - Gary Bardoel, Habitat Chairman - John Anderson, Hunter Education Chairman - Eugene DeFord. Gerald Melnyk takes care of a lot at Whitney Lake for the club. He is applying for grants to improve the area further and build a boat launching pier. The above mentioned members report monthly on the pheasants raised by the Kurash and Stachniak families, the lottery or raffle sales for fund raising, the game and fish entries, members on the role (179 in 1987), and the state of fishing and related items, like the plan to plant Walleye in Whitney Lake.

At present, members have been taking advantage of the dry weather to build a gun range north and west of Clandonald.

A note of interest; in 1923 Frank

Rowman bought a hunting license for one dollar, which allowed him to shoot a moose, an elk and a caribou.

Trophy Night for the Fish and Game Association will be on Mar. 12, 1988.

Heinsburg 4-H club

The Heinsburg 4-H Club began the year with a whole bunch of new leaders. Lilian Laboucane and Brian Tucker agreed to share the general leader position taking over from Connie Thomson. Walter Skolarchuk is the new beef leader, taking over from Charlie Thomson. Mrs. Tucker is the new computer leader, taking over from Mr. Hendricks. Rob and Marie Zayac resigned and no replacements were found. On October 19, we elected the following: President - Darren Skolarchuk, Vice-President - Lily Thomson, Secretary - Bridgette Tucker, Treasurer - Henry Thomson, Historian - Tania Peters.

On October 26, we held a meeting at the Tucker residence. Several items of correspondence dealt with information for all members, leaders and parents. On November 11, we held the beef weigh-in at Bromeland Stock Farms. We have seven calves this year. Although we have a smaller club this year, it is a very enthusiastic one.

In October, Neal and Elsie Jones and their dog Lady enjoyed a trip east. They started on their journey by attending a Lions International Banquet in Calgary and then on to Maple Creek, Sask. to visit Elsie's Uncle Johnny and Aunt Ruth (Hansen). After a pleasant visit they motored to Ontario, visiting Neal's cousins in Strathray and Aisla Craig. In Guelph they spent a night with their son Jim's best man and his wife - Fred and Darlene Lamb. Here Neal picked apples off their tree and Elsie made 13 pies for the family (some for the deep freeze). Thanksgiving Sunday was spent in Toronto with Susan, Sam her husband and baby Steven. Susan sends greetings to all her friends in Alberta Susan is Neal and Elsie's Vietnamese girl who calls them mom and dad. She was one of the boat people the Kitscoty Pastoral Charge sponsored. A night was enjoyed at Niagara Falls before going onto Rochester, N.Y. to visit Neal's cousin. A day was spent at Watkins Glen, a beautiful spot. Here they rode up 1 1/2 miles and walked down. In the city of Corning they went through the museum and viewed some of the workers putting finishing touches on the fancy Corningware. At Faledo, Ohio, they called on Elsie's bridesmaid - Maire Oberbauer & husband. In La Crosse, Wisconsin, they visited with Elsie's cousins on her father's side. From here they went to a farm near Albert Lea, Minnesota to visit a former girl friend of Elsie's, Olga and her husband Laverne. Elsie & Olga were teenagers when they both lived in Saskatchewan in the 1930's. They accompanied them on Sunday to the early morning service in the Lutheran Church which was filled with many Scandinavian folk. Elsie was born in Robsart, Saskatchewan but her brothers Bob and Jack and sister Pat were born in Minneapolis. Neal and Elsie drove down the street where Elsie lived in the 20's and to Loring Park where she played as a child. The pond had Canada geese on it and the trees had squirrels running in and out. They found the Hillside Cemetery where her father, Perry Rogstad was buried in Sept. 1927. It use to be the outskirts of the city but is now surrounded by city on all sides.

After a three week holiday they arrived home with many cherished memories.

A record crowd attended the Dewberry Lion L's annual turkey supper held Nov. 13 in the Dewberry Hall. The supper was organized by Lion L members Eva Mirback (Convenor) Lilian Ewen, Judy Butz, Jean Bowman and Marvia Garnier. At this function the whole community participates, some ladies by donating and cooking the food, others by working and many by just attending. The Community involvement is tremendous for which the Lion L's are grateful. (Note the Lion's helped put the tables up and take them down.)

This was the Lions L's 18th turkey supper (not consecutive years) with their first in 1965. Over the years the proceeds have gone mostly towards the hall - tables and chairs, cupboards, painting the interior, kitchen supplies, hall improvements and the last few years to the kitchen building fund. (In 1969 proceeds went to the Arena). The workers commented how they enjoyed working in the newly renovated kitchen—more space—more sinks for washing the dishes!!!

Congratulations to Dale and Karen Bensmiller on the arrival of their 6 lb. 8 2/3oz. son. Derek Allan, born in the Lloydminster Hospital on Nov. 14, 1987, a brother for Kyle. The proud grandparents, Judy and Carl Meisner of Camrose will be here this weekend to see the new one!
